

Take This Test: Have You Had Enough Yet?

By the JPFO Liberty Crew

You've heard about the polls. Those statistics drive politicians of both major parties in all directions. Newscasters report those statistics like holy writ.

Have the pollsters ever asked you what you think? Have the pollsters ever asked the right questions? So here is your chance to hear some real straight talk. Listen to our new, nine-minute audio presentation. As you listen, click off in your mind whether you agree or disagree with the points it makes.

Then send us an e-mail. Tell us whether you agreed or disagreed with the main points. Tell us what percentage of the message you agreed with.

To hear the presentation, click on: www.jpfo.org/govkeepout.htm
(If you prefer to read the transcript, it is there at the same web page.)

Do any of these statements say what you would say if a pollster or politician asked you the right questions?

- They call us the world's only superpower. But life feels less "super" every day.
- Politicians all share the same creed: "Spend more. Go into debt. Mind everybody else's business. Control everything—and everybody."
- Politicians take more than 40 percent of everything we produce and tell us they're going to spend it on programs that make things better. But things aren't getting better.
- In a truly free, healthy America, if any government action doesn't meet the Bill of Rights test...out it goes.

Take the test—listen to the audio presentation—and let us know your thoughts. It's your turn.

Pass It Forward

Speaking directly and plainly, this presentation confronts Americans with issues that strike home. It's not the glitzy packaging of cable or network news. It's not politically correct. It's the message from us Americans who have had enough.

By asking the right questions, this presentation awakens the passion for American values that lies within each of us. That passion can move America back toward the Bill of Rights culture that we need. And don't forget—it is the Bill of Rights culture that guarantees the right to keep and bear arms.

So—we hereby give you permission to download the audio file and the written transcript of the presentation. You can play it. You can post it on your website or blog or "myspace" page. Put it on your mp3 player. You can send it to others, by e-mail attachment or by forwarding a link.

Even more: you can offer it for transmission on broadcast and cable radio stations.

Send this message to friends and foes alike. Young people, students, parents, senior citizens. Even people on the opposite sides of your positions can learn something from this presentation.

Talk Back to the Talkers

Have you heard radio talk show hosts who ignore the real issues facing us? Are you tired of talk hosts who seem to be flaks for one party or the other? Hosts who never give an opposing voice more than two minutes of airtime to make a point before shutting it down?

Our audio presentation makes the points clearly and cogently. The wonderful voice of Jerry Hughes energizes the message, without tiresome and rude interruptions from talk hosts or station breaks.

Send this audio message to talk hosts, and challenge them to play it as "equal time" for opposing views. Let a professional deliver the message loud and clear!

What's Next?

The hottest issue right now in America is illegal immigration. Democrats and Republicans alike are discussing what to do. When you visit the website, check out the "Recipe for an American." It's an audio presentation that goes right to the heart of the immigration issue, in the same plainspoken way.
